

The Big Four: Dirk Deebag, Lil' Shmoogy, Beehive/Bobahn, & Karen McCarron

The Legend of Balinese DonMu – Book One (Part II of III) – Chapter 30

“I mean ... day one looks to be a success so far, right you guys?” I said nodding my head up and down while looking over at Olof and Wing for some kind of positive response or affirmation that we were actually on the right track here and doing some kind of good. Then remembered the Big 4. “Well ... except the Big 4 ... but everyone else seems to be ok, right?”

Wing then looked up at one of the side monitors and noticed Karen now walking into the main dining hall and heading over towards the rice field table.

“Here come your girl, Karen.” He said with a mouth full of sausages while I glanced over and saw her walking towards the rice field table and see Beehive/Bobahn and Lil’ Shmoogy both sitting there with their cards for ‘Courage’ or ‘Bravery’ ... or being called monkeys ... resting proudly in front of them.

He then grabbed the remote and turned up the volume on the microphone hidden in the napkin holder as Karen got right up next to them and stopped.

“Oh puhleeeaaaze ...” She muttered under her breath while glancing back and forth between them and their cards with a rather annoyed expression on her face.

“Ummmm ... did you just say something?” Beehive puffed up.

“Yeah, I see you got special cards for ‘Courage’ or ‘Bravery’ or whatever the fuck they are ... and I said it’s a fucking joke ... and I’ll bet you anything you just lounged around by the pool all day getting massages and shit.”

Beehive let off a huff. “Well that’s how I heal best.”

“Yeah right from what ... being called a monkey? You’re not even black.”

Lil’ Shmoogy reared around. “Bitch, you’d better stop saying that shit!”

Karen stared back at her. “Why? Are you going to sue me or something?”

“What’d the fuck you just say?!” She now leaned forward and dead-eyed her.

“Yeah, I know how you made your money. I looked your ass up. Suing everyone for racial discrimination. What a joke. There’s like a blueprint for that shit nowadays.”

We both looked over at Olof.

“Told you!” He said cracking up.

Deebag now plopped down at the table next to Lil’ Shmoogy and put his arm around her.

“Sup girrrrrl.”

Karen’s jaw dropped. “What the fuck?!” Throwing her hands in the air. “Now you two are hooking up?! Jesus H. Christ! You know he’s just gonna bang you and dump you right?”

“Bitch puhlease.” Lil’ Shmoogy showed her the back of her hand. “No white boys’ ever dumped me before. He just dumped you cause you’re all racist and scrawny and shit. With a flat old-smelly ass.”

“Oh puhleeeeeeaaaze!” Karen snapped back. “You’re probably just gonna bang him and sue him.”

“Bitch, you’d better back the fuck off with that shit and get your ass down to the other end of the table before I knock the stank off ya. We don’t need your racist-ass shit around here so move it along you skanky-ass ho.”

Karen just stood there. Fuming. Seething. You could see it in her eyes. Smoke coming out of her ears. Looking like she was gonna say something. Something bad.

“Oooooohh ... look at her.” Lil’ Shmoogy now lit up. Elbowing Beehive. “She’s so mad right now. Oooohhh, look at her. She’s gonna say something bad. Oooooohh, she’s gonna say the N-word, isn’t she? You can just see it on the tip of her tongue. Ooohhhh! Here it comes ...”

Beehive joined in too. “Oh my God, you’re right. Yes, you’re right. I can see it there too. On the tip of her tongue. She’s definitely thinking it. She’s definitely a subconscious racist.”

Karen snapped back. “Oh fuck you both! You’re both so full of shit and are just dying for me to say it so it’ll give you drama and opportunity. You people make me sick!”

“Oh my God!! She just said ‘you people’!!” Beehive erupted. “She’s definitely a racist now! Definitely a full-blown racist!”

Karen didn’t appreciate that.

“Fuck you Beehive you dumb slut! I know about you too. You think I wouldn’t find out about that shit? I heard about your past and what you used to do at parties. Thinking you’re all self-righteous and shit cause you don’t drink but you’re always the last one there. Lurking around. Looking for drunk guys to bang you. And I know the conversations you have with them too, where you tell them they need to be woke and explore their sexuality and be open-minded and not be transphobic. But the truth is you’re just trying to get ‘em to bang you. What was that name they used to have for you, what’d they call you ... the cum dumpster? ... the cock gobbler? You fat freak twink.”

“Oh my God, transphobic! Transphobic!” Beehive cried out absolutely mortified. While Lil’ Shmoogy and Deebag appeared to be chuckling under their breaths.

“I also heard you like to do weird sex things with your partners too. Like multiple partners too you power bottom slut. You’re so fucked up in the head, like cognitive dissonance shit, but you won’t talk about it will you? Say it’s private. Yet you blast other people for what they do, you hypocritical bitch.”

“Oh my God! Just listen to how transphobic she is!” Beehive was incensed now. “This is an outrage! You cannot talk to me this way. How dare you speak to me like this!”

“Oh puhlease, you’re so full of shit. You make fun of white rednecks all the time saying how dumb, transphobic and racist they are.”

“That’s different. They’re ignorant and wrong. And need to be told what’s right.”

“Oh my God, do you even hear yourself talk.”

Karen then stormed off over towards the other end of the table. Noticing Hippie Jon and German Gunther sitting down there all by themselves, smiling and waving at her to come join them, to which she just rolled her eyes and muttered under her breath ... ‘oh puhlease’ ... then took a hard right and headed over to the farthest corner of the room whilst Beehive, Lil' Shmoogy and Deebag sat there commiserating with each other and/or talking shit about Karen, possibly finding some common ground to share and heal with, which was an odd scene for us in the secret control room since we figured there was no way in hell the three of them would ever hang out together under normal circumstances but we also knew this would make for great test scenarios.

"Damn, that bitch is frickin' crazy!" Lil' Shmoogy quipped as soon as Karen was gone and out of sight.

"Yeah, I can't believe I banged that crazy-ass bitch." Deebag said nodding his head up and down while staring right at Beehive and focusing in on them. "I don't want any part of that racist shit, huh Bro? That shit's wrong, huh?"

"Yeah, and transphobic too. Huh, Beehive?" Lil' Shmoogy said now looking right back at them. Nodding her head up and down. Then realizing she actually used the wrong name. "Sorry, I mean ... BoYo? ... is that it?" Now trying to remember their real name. "Or is it BoBo? BoBa? Shit, I'm sorry, I'm frickin' bad with those weird-ass names."

Now Deebag offered his thoughts on the name. "No, I think it's Bo-Bang? Or Bo-Bottom?" He said quizzically. "Bo-Butt?" Scratching his head. "Is that right? Am I close?" Looking at Beehive with the most serious look he could muster.

"Ummmm ..." Beehive half-muttered trying not to show how appalled they probably were. "It's Bobahn. Which means spiritually enlightened in a new day and age." With a look of partially-concealed offense in their eyes. "And please remember that and be respectful of that."

"Oh yeah cool, got it now." Deebag said continuing to nod his head up and down. "And that must be tough too, going through all that transphobiaism shit. But don't worry about me, Bro. I'm totally pro-trans. I've actually got a couple buddies who've banged trannies before so it's all good. They swear they didn't do it but we all know they did. But we didn't beat 'em up or anything we just gave 'em shit you know. Like guy kinda stuff."

Beehive did not look amused by that either, while Deebag just sat there completely clueless.

"But that must be weird, Bro." Now feigning more interest in it. "Going through all that transphobiaism shit." Looking at them more seriously. "So ... what's that like bro? What's it like to be all transitioning and shit?"

"Yeah, Yo." Lil' Shmoogy now chimed in. "I kinda want to know about that shit too ... like what's it like to wanna change yourself from a man to a woman? That's such a trip, Yo. Like being born a man, then finding out you're not a real man, but instead some kinda chick ... like what the fuck's that all about? Does that mean you don't want your dick anymore?"

"Yeah, that must be a trip Bro. Being born with a dick and then not even wanting that thing anymore. Like what a fucking trip, Bro"

"Yeah, Yo. What tha fuck's that like? Being born with a dick and then looking down at it and being all ... what tha fuck's that thing doing down there? I don't want that shit."

Beehive now paused. As it was obvious they really didn't appreciate that line of questioning – and the way Deebag and Lil' Shmoogy were phrasing it – but were still trying to be woke and socially-conscious about it all.

"Well, first of all ..." They paused while letting out an unmistakable sigh and figuring out the best way to explain this all. "Let me just say there are better ways to ask that ... and inquire about it." Now looking at them both parentally. "But since I come from a place of love, I'll forgive it, and understand that you might be coming from a place of ignorance or naivety. So I'll just say that it means my gender is fluid, and I'm discovering more about myself every day, and I think I might prefer living the rest of my life out as a woman rather than a man. And I identify more with women than men. So please respect that and choose your words more carefully next time. And try to be more wise and socially conscious about it ... by being better.”

Lil’ Shmoogy now pulled back. Nodding her head up and down like ... oh ok, so that’s how you wanna play this shit? ... and answered back.

“Well, first of all let me just say that there are better ways for you to say that shit too. And not everyone is up to speed on this shit the way you are. A lot of us didn’t grow up where not knowing if you were a man or a woman was even possible, so don’t just assume everyone else knows as much about this shit as you do.”

I think hearing the words ‘shit’ and ‘this shit’ referring to a topic so near and dear to Beehive’s heart was a little off-putting. And rightly so. But regardless, it was now Beehive’s turn to get a tad offended and answer back ... as I peered over at Olof and Wing who both appeared to be getting really excited about what they figured was coming up next, as we all just sat back in our leather recliner chairs and watched as Beehive paused, gave off a half-sigh and half-disapproving little look, then turn back to Lil’ Shmoogy.

“Well, let me just say in response to all that, that I don’t really appreciate your choice of words – or your tone – it feels a bit aggressive to me. And there’s something called educating yourself. And being better. And learning about things and not being so ignorant and naïve.”

And now our eyes focused back on Lil’ Shmoogy. Who had her gaze fixed directly on Beehive with a look on her face that we knew wasn’t going to be good.

“Oohhh, boy ...” Wing said. “Heeeeeerrre we go ...”

“Well, let me just say this to ya’ ...” Lil’ Shmoogy now straightened herself up fixin’ to deliver sumpin’. “How ‘bout I just lop that thing off for ya’ and doo’s yourself a favor!”

Dinner was served promptly at six. The Asians were very efficient ...